

Why I Wish to Serve

Scott McClaine

As I think back 30 years ago, I was a newly licensed REALTOR® with magnanimous dreams of selling lots of homes and changing lives for the better for many families. I also had the fears and uncertainty of being brand new in the industry. Those fears were real! I remember picking up the phone to call prospects and that phone weighed like 1,000 pounds! The support of family, friends and my broker were all priceless. Yet, I cannot discount the professional training at RAR that helped me to navigate the waters of this exciting industry. The real estate industry has been great to me over the years, and I am continuously honored to give back to an industry that has helped me to support my family, while being active in my children's lives.

Right now, our industry is going through a transition. While I'm excited to see how it may evolve, I believe it is important to have leadership now that is not only committed to the continued growth of home ownership across Central VA, but is also committed to the continued growth of real estate professionals and our abilities to support the things that matter most to us. What is it that matters most to you? What is it that you would like to improve or make a change with? The reason I would like to remain in service on the Board of Directors is so that you can do more of that!
